

Department of Gender, Sexuality, and Women's Studies

On rare occasion, students may petition for graduate courses that are not WST prefix courses or on the GSWS Department's approved lists of graduate courses to count toward Department degrees. To be appropriate for review, these courses must be relevant to GSWS degrees and reflect 50% or more content focused on Gender, Sexuality, and Women's Studies. After consulting with their Committee Chair, students may petition to count such courses for Department degree credit. If approved, it will become listed on the approved list of courses on the Courses Outside the Département -Graduate page for all degree students.

To Petition, please submit this completed form to the GSWS Department Graduate Coordinator

Department Petition Policy: Graduate courses with 50% or more Gender, Sexuality, and Women's Studies content can be petitioned. Petitions must be submitted before the course is taken or in the same semester it is being taken. Courses where content is general, and student does independent final projects related to Gender, Sexuality, and Women's Studies do not qualify to be petitioned for credit.
