About the class:

This is an introductory Women's, Gender, and Sexuality studies course. Women's, Gender, and Sexuality Studies is an interdisciplinary academic field that examines the role of gender and sexuality in shaping society and culture. The field centers the lives of women and LGBTQ people who have been historically marginalized in scholarship. Taking an interdisciplinary approach, this course will draw on knowledge produced in a variety of fields, from visual arts and history to philosophy, literature, and beyond to understand women's lives and contributions to culture and society. We will learn how women have been defined in the West through 19th century science, and how they have defined themselves and organized for justice. The class will also explore the ways that differences of race and class among women have caused fractures in feminist movements in different historical moments.

The course is designed to provide a Women's, Gender, and Sexuality studies lens on our current social and historical context, in particular the recent movements for racial justice, and thus focuses on issues of race and belonging. This emphasis builds upon UF's 2020-21 academic year focus on the Black experience, racism and inequity. My hope is that the material we engage and the discussions we have will leave you with a more informed and complex understanding of the historical moment we are living through.

As a scholar of woman, queer, and trans of color studies, this course will reflect my expertise in these areas. I believe that we learn best how power in society operates when we center the experiences of those at the margins, and this approach is reflected in the course.

Content Notice:

Some of the required materials in this class include explicit depictions and/or descriptions of nudity, sexual acts, and physical violence. Some materials describe or depict experiences of sexual, gender-based, and race-based trauma. I have assigned these works to facilitate learning on women's lives, gender, and sexuality. If you believe engagement with these materials would likely cause you significant discomfort it may be in your interest to drop the course.

Our learning objectives include:

- Understanding how women's lives are affected by the socio-cultural construction of gender, sexual, and racial categories.
- Learning how women have used scholarship, art, and activism to express their perspectives and address gender injustice in society and culture.
- Learning how to compare, contrast, and evaluate the claims of feminist thinkers from different periods and social locations.
- Learning that formations of gender, race, class, and sexuality are interconnected.
- Understanding how art, media, and popular cultures are significant areas where social formations of gender, race, and sexuality are contested.

About me, Dr. Hernandez:

*I have been teaching at the university level for over 10 years, working with undergraduate and graduate students at Rutgers University, the University of California-San Diego, and now at UF. I have a Ph.D. in Women's and Gender Studies from Rutgers University. My book Aesthetics of Excess: The Art and Politics of Black and Latina Embodiment was published by Duke University Press in 2020. My research stems from my practice as a curator of contemporary art, community arts educator, and creative.*

I believe that visual art, music, film, and popular culture are powerful learning tools and I use them frequently to enrich our classroom experiences. My classroom is a space for experimentation. It is a site for dialogue, where students are acknowledged as theorists, artists, and producers of knowledge. While aiming to create a safe space for students to forge connections between course material, larger society, and their own lives, I also encourage them to engage with ideas that challenge them, take productive risks, and maintain space for contradiction and flux as they progress in their intellectual development. I treat my students as whole and complex beings, and create an environment where we can discuss ideas with a mind toward the social, cultural, and ethical implications of knowledge.

I invite you to be yourself, to recognize that you hold knowledge worth sharing, and to acknowledge your creative potential!

I look forward to embarking on this course with you in a spirit of collaboration.

Meet our Teaching Assistant, Jessica Trochez:

My pronouns are she/ella/they/elle. I'm a non-binary, pansexual, first-generation Honduran-American femme with invisible disabilities. I'm a second year student in the Women's Studies MA program at UF. I attended Santa Fe College and transferred to UF, graduating in 2019 with a double major in Psychology and Women's Studies. I'm interested in counseling psychology with an emphasis on social justice and Black and feminist of color frameworks. For my dissertation, my work is critiquing gender and sexual relations in Central America by centering Queer, Trans, Black, Indigenous, People of Color (QTBIPOC) activism and collective work+healing. In my free time, I write poetry, play video games, and cuddle with my cat. :)

Required Texts and Media

Required articles and short form texts will be available as PDFs on Canvas or as web links on the syllabus.

You are also required to watch videos listed on the syllabus for particular class meetings.

Writing Requirement

This course fulfills the 4,000 word writing requirement. The Writing Requirement (WR) ensures students both maintain their fluency in writing and use writing as a tool to facilitate learning. I will provide feedback on the content of your writing in addition to grammar, punctuation, clarity, coherence, and organization.

Course grades have two components. To receive writing requirement credit, a student must receive a grade of C (30 points) or higher and a satisfactory completion of the writing component of the course.

Our course will adhere to the Chicago Manual of Style, 16th edition. You can access a streamlined style guide in the Writing Resources section of our Canvas site, and the full Chicago Manual of Style is accessible via our course reserves.

If you seek additional assistance on your writing assignments please access the Writing Studio on campus: <https://writing.ufl.edu>

This course will have a total of 4 writing assignments that will make up the 4,000 requirement.

Grading in this Course:

As a teacher I am interested in students engaging with diverse perspectives. Students in my courses are never penalized for not agreeing with a particular argument or perspective we explore. My only expectation is that you understand the knowledge we engage with in class.

I calculate grades in this course using a point system. Assignments have corresponding point values that add up to a maximum of 100. Point values for assignments are listed below. I use this scale in determining your final grade.

100-90 points A / 89-85 points B+ / 84-80 points B / 79-75 points C+ / 74-70 points C /

69-65 points D+ / 64-60 points D

Information on UF's grading policy can be found here: <https://catalog.ufl.edu/UGRD/academic-regulations/grades-grading-policies/>

You should expect your work to be graded within 7 days of submission. If I anticipate a delay due to unforeseen circumstances I will inform you.

Course Recording Policy and Privacy Statement:

Our class sessions may be audio visually recorded for students in the class to refer back and for enrolled students who are unable to attend live. Students who participate with their camera engaged or utilize a profile image are agreeing to have their video or image recorded. If you are unwilling to consent to have your profile or video image recorded, be sure to keep your camera off and do not use a profile image. Likewise, students who un-mute during class and participate orally are agreeing to have their voices recorded. If you are not willing to consent to have your voice recorded during class, you will need to keep your mute button activated and communicate exclusively using the "chat" feature, which allows students to type questions and comments live. The chat will not be recorded or shared. As in all courses, unauthorized recording and unauthorized sharing of recorded materials is prohibited.

Students are allowed to record video or audio of class lectures. However, the purposes for which these recordings may be used are strictly controlled. The only allowable purposes are (1) for personal educational use, (2) in connection with a complaint to the university, or (3) as evidence in, or in preparation for, a criminal or civil proceeding. All other purposes are prohibited.

Specifically, students may not publish recorded lectures without the written consent of the instructor. A "class lecture" is an educational presentation intended to inform or teach enrolled students about a particular subject, including any instructor-led discussions that form part of the presentation, and delivered by any instructor hired or appointed by the University, or by a guest instructor, as part of a University of Florida course. A class lecture does not include lab sessions, student presentations, clinical presentations such as patient history, academic exercises involving solely student participation, assessments (quizzes, tests, exams), field trips, private conversations between students in the class or between a student and the faculty or lecturer during a class session. Publication without permission of the instructor is prohibited. To "publish" means to share, transmit, circulate, distribute, or provide access to a recording, regardless of format or medium, to another person (or persons), including but not limited to another student within the same class section. Additionally, a recording, or transcript of a recording, is considered published if it is posted on or uploaded to, in whole or in part, any media platform, including but not limited to social media, book, magazine, newspaper, leaflet, or third party note/tutoring services. A student who publishes a recording without written consent may be subject to a civil cause of action instituted by a person injured by the publication and/or discipline under UF Regulation 4.040.

Course Policies

• Attendance

There will be no attendance taken for this course. Students are expected to participate synchronously in our Hyflex course. Zoom lectures and discussions will be recorded and placed under modules in Canvas for access. If you anticipate missing more than 3 class lectures please contact Dr. Hernandez to explore makeup arrangements.

• Participation and Discussion Guidelines

Your participation in this course will necessitate your engagement with course texts and related material. Please be prepared to engage in discussion by having done the assigned reading and work.

This course explores topics that affect people's lives in significant ways. Course topics also relate to contemporary social and cultural issues and as such may result in the sharing of personal perspectives and experiences. We will respect each other's confidentiality and engage one another with consideration. Abusive and harsh language, intimidation and personal attacks will not be tolerated.

• Correspondence

I can answer questions during office hours or via e-mail. Please be aware that I receive a high volume of e-mails, if your query is time sensitive please indicate that in the subject line.

Questions that require substantive engagement, such as commentary on an assignment, would be best addressed during office hours. I will expect for you to check your UF e-mail once a day in the event that there is a schedule change or if I need to send you important information. Class alerts will be sent via the Canvas system.

Our teaching assistant is also available to assist you during office hours or via e-mail.

• Academic Integrity

Whether intentional or inadvertent, plagiarism is a serious violation. All work submitted in this course must be your own. The use of sources such as ideas, quotations, paraphrases, or anything written by someone else must be properly acknowledged and cited. If you have questions about the proper citation of sources, please ask me. Students who plagiarize, or who cheat on an exam, will be subject to disciplinary action in accordance with University policy.

• Late Submission of Assignments

Assignments turned in late will lose 1 point per calendar day. If you foresee an issue in completing your assignment on time please contact me as soon as possible. Assignments over three days late will not be accepted without documentation from a doctor or dean.

• Extra Credit

I will sometimes offer extra credit opportunities when there are relevant events/programs that relate to course material on or off campus. You are welcome to inquire if an upcoming event would be suitable for extra credit. You can earn 2 points per event for a maximum of 6 points. You will post a 1-2 page double-spaced reflection paper on Canvas to earn credit.

Consider adding a (second) major in Women's Studies!

Do you want to learn about issues of diversity, power, equity, and justice and gain the scholarly knowledge and skills to change the world? Adding the Women's Studies major can deepen your critical thinking, analysis, and skills in intersectional feminist approaches to studying and transforming gender, race, class, sexualities and other systems of power. The Women's Studies major shows graduate schools and employers that you bring advanced knowledge and skills about diversity and equity issues. The 30-credit Women's Studies major consists of four core courses and six electives. It's simple to combine with another major, and up to 15 credits can double count with another degree (English, Psychology, and Sociology in particular have many courses that can double count). It's also the perfect complement to pre-health studies. Contact undergraduate coordinator Dr. Alyssa Zucker (azucker@ufl.edu) to make an appointment to discuss adding the major.
